AMUSEMENTS

Lamara Theater

The program changes at the La-mara today and the pictures are excellent. Pathe's Weekly heads the bill and contains a number of interesting subjects, among them a speaking likeness of President Wilson.
Mayor Rolph and his wife of San Francisco are shown riding on the first municipal trolley. Off the coast of North Carolina, the steamship Alcuzar is driven ashore in a ninety mile gale. "The High Cost of Reduction" shows a succession of amusing occurrences among a stranded theatrical troupe, who open a physical culture school in order to reach Little old New York once more. "The Lubin company presents "H. H. H.
Have Been," a clever, dramatic production, picturing events as they happened in a dream. A western picture containing some big out-door scenes and excellent bare-back riding by "Deafness Red Wing" is entitled "The Frame Up." "Kissing Kate" is a clean, pleasant north-producing farce. These pictures are well worth seeing and are shown from ten o'clock in the morning. Miss Gibson continues to delight the audiences at the Lamara with her music.

Empress.

A woman with a real baritone voice is an unusual thing, and when Mrs.
DeVerne, known on the stage as Miss Van, begins to sing behind the curtain everyone supposes that he is listening to the voice of a man, but she is real sure enough woman. Nature made her tones heavy, and all that art can do to ad the work has been done so that Van's voice issues from her chest in a heavy rumble.

The black face performers, Rose and Powell have a clever act that covers them with a glory of a more lasting quality than the color of their complexions.

Billy Burns sings, dances and generally amuses the public with a line of jokes that are as new jokes ever are and most of them wear an air of freshness to the audience. He sings well also and that is as many accomplishments as any one man has a license to carry concealed about his person.

The Coliseum.

All the performers put on new acts at the Coliseum just night and all proved to be well liked as they were those earlier in the week. Fitzgerald in another original play, assumed the characteristics, costumes, voices and manners of numerous persons in such quick succession that it would have seemed almost an impossible feat, if one had not witnessed his work earlier in the week.
